Books to Support Family Engagement & Struggling Readers

Dear Educator,

Treasure Bay is the leading source of books designed to support struggling readers and family engagement in reading. Something as simple as parents and children reading together can have a remarkable impact on educational outcomes, particularly for struggling readers.

Our books maximize family engagement by making it fun for parents to get involved and easy for them to support their children's reading. Research-confirmed results include dramatic increases in parent support, improved reading scores, and students who are more excited about reading and engaged in learning.

We now have 50 exclusive collections for students from Pre-K through 8th grade. The books are usually placed in classrooms, and teachers send the books home for students to read independently or with their parents. Many schools also give the books to students for home libraries and summer reading. In addition, our books are used extensively in school classrooms to support reading and learning loss recovery.

We have many new titles and collections. You can see lists of collections by Areas of Support on the next page and info on new collections on pages 4 and 5. I sincerely hope you will take this opportunity to place an order and maximize the benefits of family engagement in reading for your school or district. If you have any questions, please call us at (800) 476-6416 or e-mail Help@TreasureBayBooks.com.

With my best regards,

Don Panec, Publisher

The #1 Series for Family Engagement in Reading

- Particularly effective with reluctant and struggling readers
- Significantly improves reading scores (see page 7)
- Dramatically increases family engagement in reading
- Used by over 12,000 schools and over 5,000 Title I programs
- Also available in bilingual English/Spanish editions (see pgs. 17-20)

The We Both Read books are so highly effective because they engage both children and parents in reading—and make it easy for them to be successful. The concept of the series is simple: each book is specially formatted for a parent and child to take turns reading alternate pages aloud. The parent's pages feature higher-level text (at about a 5th-grade reading level), while the child's pages feature text that matches the child's reading level.

This shared experience reduces the frustrations of beginning and struggling readers—and makes reading fun! Children get to practice reading at their skill level and they also have the opportunity to relax and listen as the fluent reading of more complex text is modeled for them. The result is increased comprehension, fluency, and support for their decoding skills, along with increased enthusiasm for reading.

Most schools provide sets of the books for classroom libraries, with teachers sending appropriate levels of books home on a lending basis. However, some schools provide these books to students and parents to help supplement or begin a home library. Plus, We Both Read has proven to be just as effective when used in the classroom for tutored-reading and buddy-reading programs.

Research Results: Using We Both Read

Almost Triple the Increase in DIBELS Fluency Scores Confirmed by Independent Research

A large independent research study in four states has confirmed the effectiveness of the We Both Read series in improving fluency and reading scores. The study compared use of We Both Read for at-home reading versus other materials used by schools, including basal readers, leveled readers, and trade books. Among participants (reading at least 30 minutes per week with their parents), the use of the We Both Read series resulted in significantly greater improvement in their DIBELS oral reading fluency score.

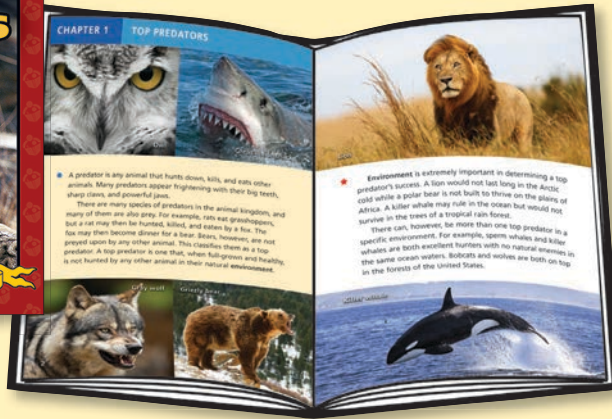

Compared to participants using other at-home reading materials, the participants using the We Both Read series scored almost triple the increase in fluency improvement. The study also showed that use of the We Both Read series resulted in more independent reading time and significantly improved children's attitudes about reading. Plus, 100% of the teachers participating in the study reported that the paired reading format of the series proved to be a significant factor in increasing at-home reading time.

30 Titles!

ARABIC and ENGLISH

CHINESE and ENGLISH

FRENCH and ENGLISH

Our We Both Read books are now available in bilingual editions for Chinese/English, Arabic/English, and French/English. Like our Spanish/English editions, these bilingual editions feature the same “take-turns reading” format as the English editions. On each page, the text is in two languages, so parents and students can read in either language. This makes the books perfect for use in homes where English is not the primary language. The books are also ideal for use in school to support English-language learners.

These bilingual editions are in sets of 10 titles for each language, with levels grades PK to 4. Titles in each set are: About Dogs (nonfiction), About Space (nonfiction), Dragons Do Not Share, Endangered Animals (nonfiction), Habitats of the World (nonfiction), How Many (nonfiction), The Ocean (nonfiction), Three Little Pigs, Too Many Cats, and The Well-Mannered Monster.

Decodable Chapter Books for Struggling Readers

Students in Grades 3 and up often struggle to read because they frequently encounter difficult words that they cannot decode. Code Reader uses an innovative system that makes text more accessible for struggling readers by providing decodable “phonetic keys” for challenging words throughout each book. The result is easier, more fluent reading, with increased comprehension. (See next page for examples.)

Code Reader was developed with the help of specialists in phonics and reading instruction. They recognized that struggling readers in grades 3 to 7 would greatly benefit from books with decodable text that are also compelling to read. Code Reader offers high-interest subjects and rich, authentic text supported by a unique system of phonetic coding that makes the books much easier to decode and read than traditional chapter books. There are two series of Code Readers: Green Level for grades 3 to 6, and Blue Level for grades 4 to 7.

The research-based Code Reader system of phonetic coding not only increases fluency and ease in reading, it also increases vocabulary and comprehension. By providing phonetic support, Code Reader allows students to read many words that are in their speaking vocabulary but that they cannot normally read. This increases their reading vocabulary and makes it more likely they will be able to read the word in other contexts.

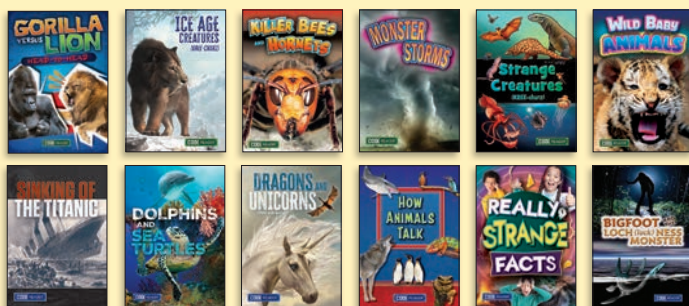

Since the Code Reader system allows students to read more of the words in the book, they will better understand the text, which will increase their comprehension! All nonfiction Code Reader books also include glossaries and definitions in context to help support vocabulary development and comprehension.

The Code Reader books are also great for family engagement. Parents can support students to use the phonetic keys to read difficult words out loud, and then help to connect the pronunciations with the written words. To download parent/teacher handouts on Using Code Reader Books with Your Students, go to: CodeReader.org/handout

To see samples of the books, go to CodeReader.org/sample

To view a scope and sequence for each level, including phonics skills and high-frequency words, as well as a full list of phonetic keys used in the books, go to CodeReader.org/scope

Code Reader supports struggling readers by making text easier to decode and read. It uses a research-based scope and sequence for decoding skills in order to identify challenging words in a text and provide phonetic keys following the words. Here are some examples, showing how phonetic keys are incorporated:

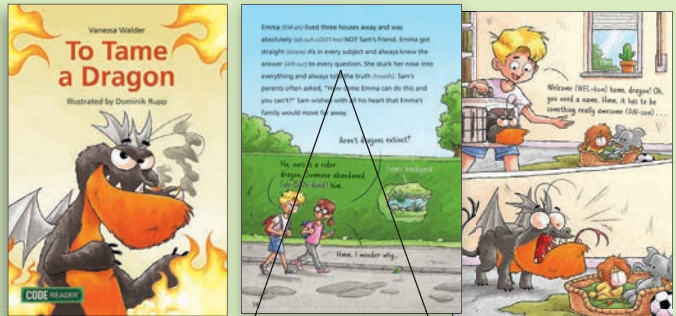

Green Level for Grades 3 to 6

Nonfiction Example

Violent (VY-uh-lent) winds shake walls. Rain whips through (throo) the air in a constant downpour. It's a hurricane (HUR-ih-kane)—a true monster of a storm! . . . Buildings (BIL-dings) and homes flood.

Fiction Example

Emma (EM-uh) lived three houses away and was absolutely (ab-suh-LOOT-lee) NOT Sam's friend. Emma got straight (strate) A's in every subject and always knew the answer (AN-sur) to every question.

"Code Reader definitely aligns with the phonetic elements that we are instructing kids to use. . . These books are much less intimidating for struggling readers."

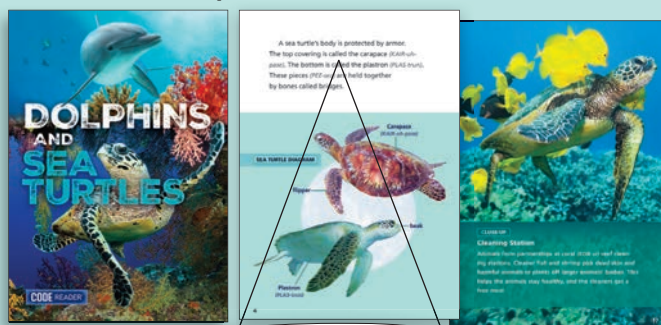

Shannon Stockburger, Special Education Teacher, Center Elementary

"The BIGGEST benefit is the Code Reader keys throughout the books. . . These books would be invaluable, especially for a Title I teacher like myself . . . great for family engagement."

Christina Zunt, Title I Reading Teacher, John Muir Elementary

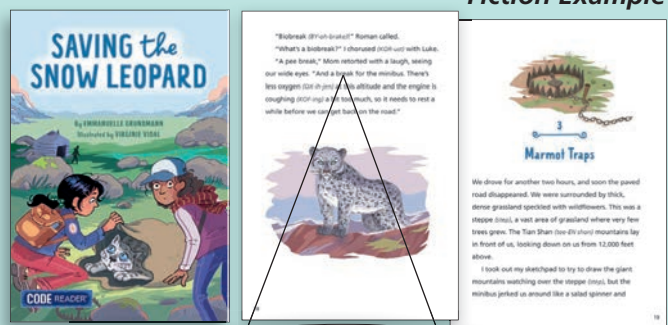

Blue Level for Grades 4 to 7

Nonfiction Example

The top covering is called the carapace (KAIR-uh-pase). The bottom is called the plastron (PLAS-trun). These pieces (PEE-sez) are held together by bones . . .

Fiction Example

There's less oxygen (OX-ih-jen) at this altitude and the engine is coughing (KOF-ing) a bit too much . . .

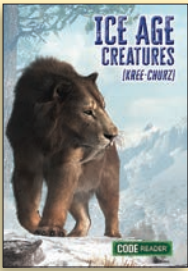

"The pronunciation keys assist with decoding and the content is rich. Code Reader is . . . a bridge between decodable and independent grade level books."

Alisha Anderson, Federal Grants Manager, Redmond School District

Each book provides readers with abundant opportunities to transfer newly acquired phonics skills to an authentic reading context. Every set features books with diverse characters in engaging stories with gorgeous illustrations, as well as some nonfiction books with interesting subjects and beautiful photography.

We have divided the collection into three sequential sets. The On Our Way set focuses on short vowels, initial/final digraphs, and initial blends. The Building Up set focuses on final blends, long vowels, and vowel teams. And the Moving On & Lifting Off set provides practice with vowel-r combinations, complex blends, diphthongs, and common prefixes and suffixes.

All the books in this amazing collection are numbered on the back in sequential order, and each book focuses on practice of a specific phonics skill (e.g. long vowel "ee" or digraph "th"). For a complete scope and sequence chart for these books, which shows the specific phonics focus by title, go to TreasureBayBooks.com/PioneerPhonicsScope.

A Comprehensive Series of Decodable Readers in Nine Sequential Levels

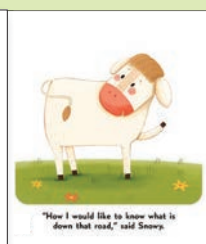

This large and superbly written series of decodable readers was created by Dr. Cecilia Minden, the former director of the Language and Literacy Program at the Harvard Graduate School of Education. These Little Blossom books are not only decodable, they also contain engaging illustrations and stories that students will enjoy reading. Treasure Bay provides this series in a sequenced progression from Short Vowel Intro Readers through Ambiguous Vowel Combinations. Each 16-page book includes a decodable story, along with information on words and phonics patterns used in the book.

Books with engaging decodable stories in sequential groups of progressing phonics skills:

DK Learning

Decodable Adventures

Gr. 2 to 656 Titles!

Decodable Books for Older Students

Many struggling readers in grades 2 to 6 would benefit from the use of decodable readers. However, most decodable books are designed with very little text, often with simplistic stories that do not appeal to older students. The DK Learning Decodable Adventure series are different: these are easy to read decodable books with more text and exciting stories, specifically designed to capture the interest of older elementary students!

We have three collections at different levels of reading skill, all of which offer exciting adventure stories that are truly decodable. Each series in these collections features young multi-ethnic characters and a storyline with a plot that builds throughout the color-coded and numbered books in the series. These books are perfect to provide reading support for struggling readers with decodable text and action-filled stories that will motivate your students to read.

Each book may include one or more of the following: word list, glossary, phonics game, comprehension questions, or suggestions to parents on using the book with their child.

These high-interest, low-reading-level series are all specifically designed for reluctant and struggling readers who are reading below grade level. The books have subjects that will grab students' attention and text that is carefully leveled, yet highly engaging.

The use of images, info-graphics, design elements, and visuals are designed to sustain interest and increase comprehension. These well-researched and well-written collections are must-haves to get your reluctant and struggling readers reading at home and at school.

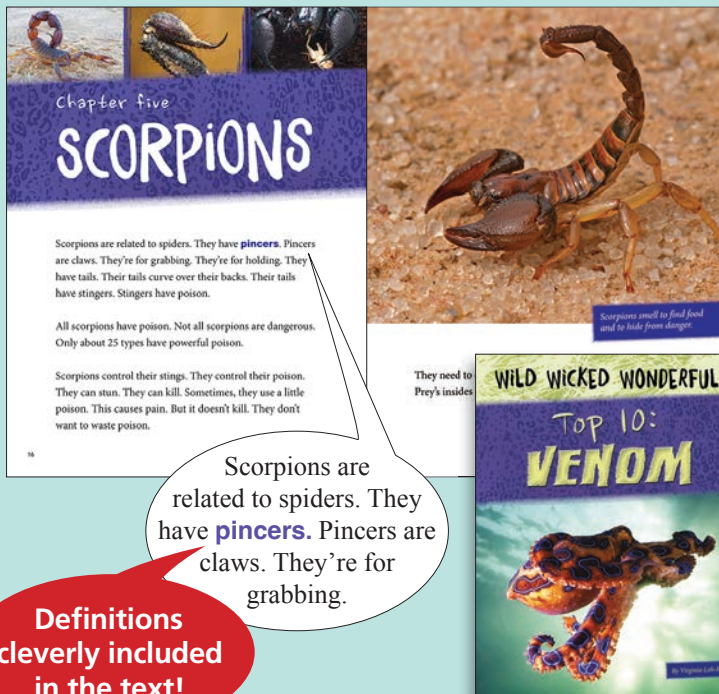

45th Parallel High-Low

Designed for Grades 4 to 8 — with Text at a 3rd Grade Reading Level

Set #: HL-PAR-32

45th Parallel is a leading series of high-low books, and we have chosen the best and most popular books in the series to create this superb collection for students reading below grade level. These nonfiction, high-low books are written by curriculum specialists with an eye toward making the text very accessible for struggling readers. Guided reading levels range from O to R, though the text is easier to read than these levels indicate. The books all use short sentences, short chapters, and carefully controlled vocabulary (with explanations of uncommon words cleverly embedded within the text).

Titles all include a table of contents, an index, a glossary, and questions to think about after reading.

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC KIDS

Nonfiction Levelled Paperbacks

Gr. PK to 6

116 Titles!

Each National Geographic Kids book pairs magnificent photographs with engaging text that has been developed in consultation with early education experts. Our exclusive curated collections feature the very best books and series from National Geographic. Each of the collections is tailored for different grades and reading levels.

The National Geographic Kids Readers collections offer the widest range of reading levels. Our four leveled collections of this series offer books from Guided Reading Level E to P. For more advanced readers, we recommend the National Geographic Kids Chapter Books, as well as the collection of Weird But True titles.

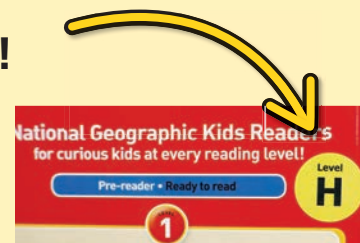

We also offer the Explore My World collection, which includes books on animals and topics that are of high interest to younger students. The text and format of these books make them ideal for parents to read together with children from Pre-K to Grade 2 (with a parent taking the lead in reading with children in grades Pre-K or K).

All of the books in our National Geographic Kids collections are perfect for use in the classroom or as take-home books for family engagement in reading. Plus, we are now offering a special collection in Spanish! The collection includes 20 of the most popular National Geographic Kids titles with a range of Spanish reading levels appropriate for students from grades K to 4. This Spanish set, along with matching titles from the English sets, can be particularly helpful for ELL students from homes where the primary language is Spanish.

Stickered with the Reading Level!

Each book in these collections comes stickered on the back cover with a letter for the Reading Level, which makes it easy to choose appropriate books for each student's reading skill.

Be the Change!

SOCIAL & EMOTIONAL LEARNING

Social and Environmental Action Collections

These two innovative collections provide thought-provoking information about social and environmental issues, along with age-appropriate ways to get involved and make a difference. These books are perfect to help foster classroom discussions, as well as for students to bring home to read and discuss with their parents.

Our Grades 2 to 4 collection focuses on environmental issues and shows students how they can take part in "going green" at home and at school. The Grades 4 to 8 collection provides a more in-depth look at some social and environmental issues, including climate change, and humans' impact on Earth's environments.

Excite your students about reading with fiction and nonfiction interactive "path" books!

Each You Choose nonfiction title brings to life an era or event in history. The format of the books creates a powerful experience for readers, as they face the challenges and decisions that people encountered at pivotal moments in history. The intense action and difficult choices of what path to take will rivet readers from grades 3 to 8. Even reluctant readers will be caught up in history and learn more than they realize about events that have helped to shape the world we live in today.

The Choose Your Own Adventure series has a long history of engaging reluctant readers. In each book, there are many choices for readers to make that take the storyline in different directions and to different endings. The books are perfect for parents and children to read together, as they laugh and discuss which paths would be the best ones to take. And with many different paths and endings, your students will want to read each book again and again.

Engaging Families with Reading and Mathematics

(and showing how math can be fun and relevant in our everyday lives)

MathStart is a unique series of educational readers designed for family engagement that integrates reading with mathematics and STEM programs. It has been a hit with thousands of schools and teachers, and it has won numerous awards and accolades, including Booklist's Top-Ten Nonfiction Series for Young Children.

The books are ideal to use as take-home books for parents to read with students, and every book includes fun extension activities for families to do together. When used as part of a family engagement program, parents can read the books aloud or read them together with their children, as well as help discuss the math concepts covered in each book.

Each title offers an engaging and usually humorous story that helps illustrate a specific math concept and shows how it has applications in everyday life. Various titles cover graphing, telling time, estimating, comparing, rounding, map reading, and much more. The series, which is broken down into three levels, helps support all of the NCTM Standards for Pre-K through Grade 4.
