Summary: The We Both Read books dramatically increase parent involvement in reading and are perfect for Title I Programs for Parent Involvement, as well as Title I RTI programs. The concept of the series is simple: each book is specially formatted for a parent and child to take turns reading aloud alternate pages. Parents read the left-hand pages, which feature higher level text (at about a 5th grade reading level), and students read the right-hand pages, which feature text that matches the students' reading skills. A large research study on We Both Read has confirmed the success of these books in significantly improving fluency and reading scores.

We Both Read - All fiction titles correlate to these standards.

Summary: The We Both Read books dramatically increase parent involvement in reading and are perfect for Title I Programs for Parent Involvement, as well as Title I RTI programs. The concept of the series is simple: each book is specially formatted for a parent and child to take turns reading aloud alternate pages. Parents read the left-hand pages, which feature higher level text (at about a 5th grade reading level), and students read the right-hand pages, which feature text that matches the students' reading skills. A large research study on We Both Read has confirmed the success of these books in significantly improving fluency and reading scores.

STANDARD	NSFSP.3.	Supporting Student Success: Families and school staff continuously collaborate to support students' learning and healthy development both at home and at school, and have regular opportunities to strengthen their knowledge and skills to do so effectively.
GOAL	3.2.	Supporting Learning by Engaging Families: Are families active participants in their children's learning at home and at school?
INDICATOR	3.2.2.	Developing family ability to strengthen learning at home
LEVEL		Level 2: Progressing
EXAMPLE	3.2.2.L2.	The school and PTA/parent group work together to provide families tools to support student learning at home. Elephant & Piggie Elephant & Piggie - All titles in this series correlate to these standards. Summary: This series is perfect for Title I Parent Involvement and Response to Intervention Programs. Your students will love this series—even your reluctant and struggling readers.

The series is ideal for independent reading, as well as reading together with a buddy, a tutor or a parent. The books feature hilarious conversations between two characters, Elephant and Piggie. Two readers can easily take turns reading: each reader simply reads the part of one of the two characters (if they can stop laughing!). The Elephant and Piggie books are all written and illustrated by Mo Willems, the author of Don't Let the Pigeon Drive the Bus and winner of three Caldecott Honor Awards.
