

Look, it's planet Earth!

From way up high, our planet looks like a floating marble of blue, white, and green. But we know that it's so much more.

