

Helpers in my community

Bobbie Kalman

What is a community?

A community is a place where many people live and work together.

Community helpers are people who make communities cleaner, safer, and better.

Who are the helpers in your community?

Some community helpers are builders, doctors, teachers, and librarians. All these people help you.

Buildings and roads

Communities need buildings where people can live or work.

Builders build houses, offices, schools, and stores.

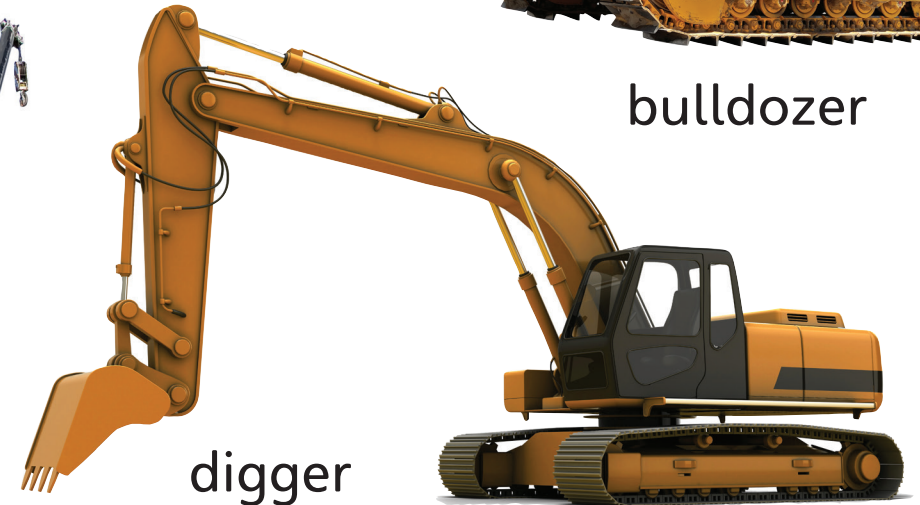

They also build roads and bridges.

Builders use these machines to do their work.
