

Dragons Do Not Share!

A We Both Read Book
Level PK-K

Text Copyright © 2018 by D.J. Panec
Illustrations Copyright © 2018 by Andy Elkerton
All rights reserved

We Both Read® is a trademark of Treasure Bay, Inc.

Published by Treasure Bay, Inc.
P.O. Box 119
Novato, CA 94948 USA

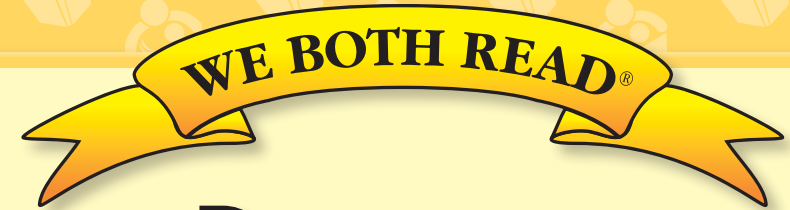

Printed in Malaysia

Library of Congress Catalog Card Number: 2017908527

ISBN: 978-1-60115-306-7

Visit us online at:
TreasureBayBooks.com

PR-11-17

Dragons Do Not Share!

By D.J. Panec

Illustrated by Andy Elkerton

TREASURE BAY

☁ Sam was a dragon who did not want to share.

He did not want to share his crayons. He did not want to share his . . .

☁ . . . cars.

☹ Many young dragons don't like to share.
That's just the way they are.

Sam did not want to share his books or his building toys or his old, torn treasure . . .

☹ . . . map.

One day Sam's cousin, Tess, came to visit. Sam's mother asked him to share his toys with her, but Sam said, . . .

... "No."

Sam told his mother, "Dragons never share."

His mother said, "Sam, that isn't true. Don't I share my hugs with you? Don't I share my books with you? Don't I share my cookies with . . .

. . . you?"