

I pack my own lunch every day. And every day, I eat exactly the same things. No matter what.

I like having the same thing to eat every day. I mean, what if I change my lunch, and crazy things start happening? I know it's not that simple, but—what if?

