CODE READER™

Making Difficult Words Easy

Code Reader Books provide codes with “sound keys” to help read difficult words. For example, a word that may be difficult to read is “unicorn,” so it might be followed by a code like this: unicorn (YOO-nih-korn). By providing codes with phonetic sound keys, Code Reader Books make reading easier and more enjoyable.

Examples of Code Reader™ Keys

Long a sound (as in make):

a (with a silent e) or ay

Examples: able (AY-bul); break (brake)

Short i sound (as in sit): i or ih

Examples: myth (mith); mission (MIH-shun)

Long i sound (as in by):

i (with a silent e) or y

Examples: might (mite); bicycle (BY-sih-kul)

Keys for the long o sound (as in hope):

o (with a silent e) or oh

Examples: molten (MOLE-ten); ocean (OH-shen)

Codes use dashes between syllables (SIH-luh-buls), and stressed syllables have capital letters.

For more Code Reader sound keys, see pages 146 and 147.

THE ROBOTONS

The universe (YOO-nih-vurs) is endless.

Astronomers (uh-STRAH-nuh-murz) say it contains 100 billion (BIL-yun) galaxies. One of those galaxies, called the Milky Way, is made up of 300 billion stars.

And around one of those stars, called the Sun, orbit eight planets and a load of smaller objects, like satellites, dwarf planets, and comets.

The third-closest planet to the Sun is called Earth, which is full of friendly creatures (KREE-churz), such as lemurs (LEE-murz) and snails.

But I don't know why I'm telling you all that now, because our story starts very far from here, in the Arcadia (ar-KAY-dee-uh) galaxy.

Our story also takes place in the future. For some reason, people in the future are quite fond of using names that come from Greek mythology (mih-THAH-luh-jee). We don't really know why. We also don't know why Greek names are so difficult to read. You certainly (SUR-ten-lee) won't be able to sound out the names with any skills you learned in school. Fortunately (FOR-choo-net-lee), this is a Code Reader™ book. So, we're going to do our best to help you with all the strange names.

Anyway, back to the Arcadia (ar-KAY-dee-uh) galaxy. Arcadia is 148 million lightyears from Earth, which is very, very far away.

Look around, can you see a gray spaceship?

ERYMANTHOS

[EER-ih-MAN-THOS]

LERNA

[LUR-NUH]

CRETE

[KREET]

HESPERIDES

**!!?

That gray thing is Hercules (HUR-kyoo-leez), a rundown ship where planet Earth's Space Navy sends all the slackers they want to get rid of.

THIS IS COMMANDER EURYSTHEUS (YUR-RIS-THEE-US), THE BIG BOSS ON BOARD.

HIS OFFICIALS
(UH-FIH-SHULZ), THE PILOTS (PY-LUTS),
THE ENGINEERS

I'M IN CHARGE
HERE!

THE TECHNICIANS
(TEK-NIH-SHUNZ), THE SOLDIERS (SOL-JURZ)

I'M THE MOST IMPORTANT ROBOT!

THE SERVANTS

THE SERVANTS'
SERVANTS

BELOW THEM ARE IMPORTANT ROBOTS, LIKE CHEF (SHEF),
THE ROBOT COOK, ROBOT MECHANICS (MEH-KAN-NIKS), MAINTENANCE (MANE-TEH-NANS) ROBOTS, AND THE JUICER (JOO-SUR).

Wow, you're heavy!

AND AT THE VERY BOTTOM OF THE CREW ARE THE ROBOTONS (RO-BO-TAHNZ).
THEY ARE EVEN BELOW THE JUICER.

These are the Robotons (RO-bo-tahnz):

WE'RE TREATED ON THIS SHIP
LIKE RECYCLED (REE-SY-KULD)
DIRT CLOUDS!

POPPY

The most stressed robot in the Known Universe. She is in serious (SEER-ree-us) need of a vacation (vay-KAY-shun).

WHAT'S DIRT?

ROB

Robots are known for being very sharp, but Rob is proof that the Republic of Earth's cyber (SY-bur) workshops produce a bit of everything. That said, he makes up for it with muscles (MUH-sulz) of steel and a heart of silver.

BEEP

Some robots just have bad luck and Beep is one of them. If anyone is going to get hurt, it will probably be him. Luckily, he can count on Zot's knowledge (NAH-lej) to repair him. No one is too sure what his skills are, and as he can't speak, he can't tell us.

IF THERE WAS RECYCLED
DIRT ON BOARD, I'M SURE
IT'D BE ABOVE US!

ZOT

If anyone on board the Hercules is on the ball, it's Zot. She knows all 300 billion terabytes (TAIR-uh-bites) of the Cosmopedia (koz-moh-PEE-dee-uh) by heart, and there is no human (HYOO-men) or robot who can beat her at chess. That's why she gets so angry when she feels her superiors (suh-PEER-ree-urz) aren't making the most of her talents.

Every evening, when their work is done, the service robots on the Hercules get together to drink a glass of oil in the robot cafe (KAF-fay) in basement 37. Everyone is there: the maintenance robots, the waiter robots, the mechanic (meh-KAN-ik) robots, and . . . in a corner by themselves, the Robotons.

Today they are very upset because they have spent all day unclogging the ship's toilets. Not a very pleasant (PLEH-zint) task!

IF WE COULD AT LEAST TAKE A SHOWER . . .

WATER ISN'T EXACTLY A ROBOT'S FRIEND, POPPY.

IT'S HUMILIATING

(HYOO-MIL-LEE-AY-TING)!

I'M MORE INTELLIGENT THAN ANY HUMAN AND THEY SEND ME TO VACUUM
(VAK-YOUM) OUT THEIR TOILETS!

I'M WASTED HERE!

The Robotons don't have a specific (speh-SIF-ik) job. They're just told to do the things no one else wants to do— all the unpleasant, tiring, dangerous (DANE-jur-us), dirty, thankless, repetitive jobs in places where it's too hot or too cold, at any time of the day or night, and without any thoughts of their safety.

Luckily, as robots don't have feelings, the Robotons don't mind doing these kinds of jobs.

This is Chef (shéf), the head of the Hercules's robotic kitchen. He is arrogant (AIR-ro-gent) and bossy with the other robots and stinks of garlic. But he makes the best potato (puh-TAY-toh) omelette (OM-let) in this part of the universe and thanks to that he has the highest rank of all the robots on the ship.

Suddenly, the big screen in the cafe turns on and a message (MEH-sij) appears:

THIS IS AN ORDER FOR THE ROBOTONS.

REPORT TO THE SHIP'S CONTROL ROOM IMMEDIATELY (IM-MEE-DEE-ET-LEE).

BEEED-BEEED!

I SAID IMMEDIATELY!

WHY AREN'T YOU
HERE YET?

DOES HE MEAN US?

THEY PROBABLY WANT US TO CLEAN SOMETHING THAT'S REALLY DIRTY.

ALWAYS THE SAME WITH THEM.

THEY'RE A BUNCH OF SLACKERS.

THE UNIVERSAL DECLARATION (DEH-KLUH-RAY-SHUN) OF ROBOTS' RIGHTS CLEARLY STATES WE HAVE THE RIGHT TO REST FOR TEN MINUTES EVERY DAY.

BEEP-BEEP!
BEEP-BEEP!
BEEP-BEEP!

WE HAVEN'T STOPPED FOR A MOMENT IN WEEKS!

It's the first time that the Robotons have gone into the control room. They know the kitchens, bathrooms, machine (muh-SHEEN) rooms, and store rooms inside out, but they have never been in the room where important things are decided and officials (uh-FIH-shulz) give the orders.

ROBOTONS, YOU HAVE BEEN CHOSEN (CHOH-ZIN) TO CARRY OUT A VERY IMPORTANT MISSION (MIH-SHUN).

THE MOST IMPORTANT MISSION THAT THE HIGH COMMAND OF PLANET EARTH HAS EVER GIVEN THE CREW OF THIS SHIP.

IT IS A GREAT HONOR (AH-NUR) FOR YOU! I HOPE YOU WILL BE UP TO THE TASK.

The Robotons suddenly feel very small and nervous (NUR-vus).
